Product description:

This sturdy and versatile self-supporting stool can be used in any space as a step stool, a bedside table or extra seating. The A Line Stepstool features a number of important design elements, such as curved edge detailing, an extended lower step that creates extra space for storage and the addition of a handle beneath the upper step serve as a grip and makes it easy to move the stool from room to room.

Designer's thoughts:

'With A Line Stepstool we aimed to create a strong, small piece of furniture that can be used anywhere in the home. The bottom step runs the full width of the piece, which means Stepstool can also be used as a bedside table or side table. The curved profiles of the steps and legs visually combine with the load-bearing sides to form a coherent whole.'
